Top landscapes to explore in Granada's fall 2016

Discovering the water of the Alhambra

GRANADA CITY CENTER

A two hour walk discovering the origin of the water of the Alhambra: the exact point where the irrigation channel that comes from the valley connects with the gardens of the Generalife, the way that the water passes from the Generalife hill to the Alhambra and, finally, the point where it returns to the river closing the circle.

Duration: 2 hours 30 minutes

Price: 25 €/person

Meeting point: At the end of the Paseo de los Tristes, at the "Rey Chico" bridge

Cahorros de Monachil

SIERRA NEVADA NATURAL PARK

With its wild flowers, fruit trees, a cascading and Tibetan bridges to cross the gorge, the lush Monachil valley is a one of the most beautiful areas for walking near Granada.

Dehesa del Camarate

SIERRA NEVADA NATIONAL PARK

The number one spot in both Granada and the Sierra Nevada to experience the colours of Autumn is "La Dehesa del Camarate". Looking like an enchanted forest with its untouched sub-humid Mediterranean mixed forest of both evergreen and deciduous trees. A gift for our senses and impossible to forget.

Duration: 9 hours. 8:00-17:00

Price: 65 €/person

Meeting point: Granada train station

La vereda de la Estrella

SIERRA NEVADA NATIONAL PARK

A classic hike in Sierra Nevada, especially in autumn, when the maple trees, oaks, gall oaks, wild roses and other deciduous plants offer a wide range of colors.

While walking through this steep valley you will gaze at stunning scenery with the north faces of the three highest peaks of the mountain range in front of you.

Duration: 7-8 hours. 8:00-17:00

Price: 55 €/person

Meeting point: Granada train station

The Magical Alpujarra

SIERRA NEVADA NATURAL PARK

La Alpujarra is a magical region located on the southern slopes of the Sierra Nevada range. Its white villages are literally perched on the mountain. The landscape is a wonderful blend of natural vegetation and fruit trees growing on hand made terraces built centuries ago.

Duration: 6-7 hours. 8:00-16:00

Price: 60€/person

Meeting point: Granada train station
